

CAMPUS MEDIA

Student publications at MIT include The Tech, a student newspaper published weekly; Technique, the senior yearbook; the ANNO, a publication of the Graduate Student Council; and The Byte, an online publication of the Undergraduate Association. There are also a number of student-run and produced literary and scientific publications. Students may also contribute their talents to a variety of departmental, organizational, and residence hall publications and websites.

On the air, WMBR is MIT's commercial-free radio station operating under a license held by the Technology Broadcasting Corporation. On screen, the MIT Student Film & Video Production Club offers opportunities for students to learn about film and television production.

The MIT Press

Established in 1962 and one of the largest and most distinguished university presses in the world, the MIT Press is a leading publisher at the intersection of science, technology, art, social science, and design. The Press's award-winning trade, text, and professional books, as well as journals, can be freely accessed online via MIT Press Direct (<https://direct.mit.edu>). The MIT Press Bookstore (<http://mitpressbookstore.mit.edu>) (314 Main Street) stocks books from the MIT Press and other prominent publishers and hosts outstanding author events throughout the year. MIT affiliates, including students, faculty, staff, and alumni receive a 10% discount on book purchases (<https://mitpress.mit.edu/mit-discounts>).
